Even apart from your public speaking appearances, practice moving with more purpose in your daily life. When you walk, move like someone who is actually going somewhere. Gain a sense of your connection to the earth—how it feels to walk on the ground and move through space. The body is often a source of lack of confidence in speakers.

How to Build Your Confidence for Public Speaking

September 06, 2018 - Dom Barnard - 6 min read. An estimated 75% of adults suffer from a fear of public speaking. When stress hormones are released we may behave differently - frequently, our minds go blank, our voices become harder to control, we may visibly shake etc. Even professional public speakers have to deal with nerves but they have techniques to cope.

For some people public speaking is worse than watching “Insidious” all alone in the dark, the first and second part back to back. It’s their worst nightmare, and when they think of speaking in front of a crowd they feel nauseous, but if you think about it for a moment, you will realize just how ridiculous this fear is.

8 Tips For Becoming A More Confident Public Speaker

Truly powerful public speaking starts not with 100% confident public speaking, but with talking from the heart. Take Jamie Oliver's TED Talk , for example; not the most confident public speaking ever (he walks around too much, flaps his notes and clearly looks nervous!), but a deeply powerful and deeply moving speech nonetheless.
